CHOIR TO PRESENT EVENING OF SACRED MUSIC

The Concordia Chorists of Edmonton will give a sacred concert in Emmaus Lutheran Church at Drayton Valley on Sunday, April 3. They will appear under the sponsorship of Emmaus Lutheran Church, the Rev. John H. Karlen, pastor.

These chorists are fifty boys and girls from Concordia College in Edmonton. Concordia College is a co-educational residential school organized in 1911 and operated by the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod. Most of these students are preparing for service in the church, either as pastors or teachers and deacons.

In past years the Concordia Chorists have repeatedly sung over the net work of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and several times they appeared in the Edmonton Jubilee Auditorium.

The program to be presented on April 3 consists of gems of sacred song. Included are selections from such old masters as Bach, Vivaldi, Ippolitoff-Ivanov, Mendelssohn, Haydn, and Handel. The program is brought to a close with Handel's stirring Hallelujah Chorus.

Conductor of the Chorists is Dr. Albert H. Schweinmann, who has led college choirs for the past thirty-nine years. He is assisted by his daughter Marvilyn Schweinmann.

man, who will serve as accompanist.

The concert will begin at 8 o'clock on Sunday evening, April 3, in Emmaus Lutheran Church. The public is cordially invited to hear this outstanding musical presentation.

OIL WIVES FASHION SHOW

Drayton Valley is getting to be quite a large town, but the Fashion Show presented by the Oil Wives Club of Drayton Valley would have done credit to a much larger town, or even to a city. It was of a calibre that might well have put it in the "big-time". In the price range the clothes that were shown were excellent, the modeling was done with an almost professional touch, and the general motif of the show, back-ground, harmonizing music, and so on were excellently carried off. Apparel for the show was furnished by H. O. Williamson, Ltd., Ken's Men's Wear, Ann's Fashions and the Hudson's Bay Co.

First theme of the show was on Easter Parade for the Junior Set. Models in this phase of the show included, Cindy Sharkey, Melinda McDonald, Judy Baker, Padily Kane, Rupert Thomson, Gail McManus, Tracy Tolchard, Helel Kalash, Larry Stevenson, Jimmy Kane, Ken Morris, Pauline Renaud, Jan Williamson and Billy Hamilton.

Next scene was a beautiful bridal scene, with lovely Sherry Davies, as the bride, one Rosegarth as Maid of Honor and little Cindy Sharkey as flower girl.

For all the different scenes of the Show recorded music was provided by Curt Klassen. Mrs. Scott McDonald performed capably as commentator. Mrs. Ken Boling very ably filled the role of Convenor and Mrs. Lil Ross as Program Chairman.

Following the Bridal scene a show intermission was held, during which drawing was made for door prizes; the drawing was made by Mrs. Emily McKay, who has served as International President of International Oil Wives for the past three years.

Third Theme dealt with a trip to a tropical island. Background music for the tropical island scene was provided by Rag and Lil Ross, as Calypso singers, while little Dana Tolchard, dressed in a grass skirt and lei, played the maracas and acted out the part of a hula dancer. The First Scene showed the models in various apparel as they arrived on the island.

Scene Two under the heading of "Sun and Sand" gave a view of Betty Lundberg, wearing a shirt waist dress, paisley print, with maroon background, and pink accessories. The picture was taken in the scene "Arrival on the Island".

Shirley Tolchard, modeling an iridescent fern green cotton three piece ensemble. The twins, Kelly and Kim, aged 2 1/2, are wearing a coat and hat set in beige with dark brown trim. The little girl has a plaid tartan skirt and the boy has matching short pants. Minnie in the scene "Arrival on the Island".

Mr. Ernest Berns.

Ernest Berns was born in the section of Germany which is now known as West Germany. He served in the German Army for six and a half years. After the war he was in business in Germany; running a bakery. He came to Canada with his family in 1961, and worked at whatever he could find to do when he first came over here. He settled in the Evansburg region and worked in a lumber mill, and in the bush contracting wood cutting. Another job he had in that area was in a coal mine, and he worked for a while on a bridge gang for the Government Highways Department. When this field was discovered here he worked in the Violet Grove area for Can-Tex on a drill rig.

Four years ago he started the milk route in Drayton Valley, with his son Claus helping him, and ran various beach attire. Part of the scene included what the well-dressed Skin Diver will wear; behind the mask and inside the rubber suit was Skin Diver Roy Gieck.

Scene Three was titled "Some Enchanted Evening" and showed what the well-dressed man or woman might wear for a social evening, with some stunning creations in ladies wear modeled and some very well dressed models in men's wear also.

The Fourth scene was the closing scene of the show, called "Aloha and Farewell". It showed the various models ready to board the plane homeward bound.

Models for the Tropical Isle scenes were the Rosegarth, Jan

McMahon, Sherry Davies, Patty McKay, Darlene Aoy, Jean Parrell, Vicki Zach, Dorothy Worthington, Betty Lundberg, and Shirley Tolchard and the feminine half of the Tolchard twins, Kelly, with the masculine side being presented by Jack Aoy, Bill McKay, Charlie Davies, Tracy Tolchard, Clarence Hiker and the masculine half of the Tolchard twins, Kim.

The line-up half of those who worked hard to get the show into shape and on the stage besides the three already mentioned was: Hair-styling: Lonnie Fehr; Makeup: Barber Casey; Wardrobe Mistress: Robbie Holder and Marg Warren; Lights and Music: Curt Klassen; Decorations: Aud- (cont. page 2, col. 3)

YOU GO WHERE YOU LOOK

Taken from "Good Business".

We enter into anything to which we habitually give attention. This is simple psychology. If we give our attention to adverse conditions we enter into those conditions. We travel in the direction toward which our thought is directed.

If we direct our thoughts toward God and spiritual things we enter into the Rest of God and into the knowledge of spiritual things. If we wish to enter into prosperity, happiness and health we must about-face and go in the direction of the good. Jesus said to Peter, "When thou art converted..." Peter was already a follower of the lowly Nazarene, but Peter was still looking to outward circumstances and could not live up to his name "Peter" is. "Peter" "The Rock", but later Peter did do an "about-face", he was converted, which means "to turn about" and then he did become a rock, a tower of strength to his brethren in the faith.

Of course one could enter a house by backing into it; however, that is not being done now. It is humankind to go in the direction that one is facing, and we may as well make use of this human trait with a view to benefiting it in the spiritual realm, as well as in the natural.

Enter into blessings which you desire by keeping your attention fixed on those blessings. Turn toward the good and the good will turn toward you. Turn toward God and God will turn toward you. This is action and reaction in the spiritual realm. We find this symbolized in the story of the Prodigal Son. The son awoke, he said, "I will arise and go to my father..." He turned away from his evil ways and turned toward his father house. The father, seeing him from afar, ran to meet him.

"Return unto me and I will return unto you; with Jehovah of hosts."

CANCER RESEARCH

FROM ALBERTA DIVISION CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY
231 SEVENTH AVENUE SOUTH EAST, CALGARY, ALBERTA

Dr. Hans Selye PRODUCES
CANCER IN ANIMALS BY STRESS.

Dr. Hans Selye, Director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery, University of Montreal, has succeeded in inducing the spontaneous development of cancer in a rat by subjecting the animal to a special kind of stress. This has been accomplished by a "pouch" technique, developed by Dr. Selye, by which small glass tubes of different shapes are placed in a sac under the loose skin on the back of a rat. Support for this work came from the National Cancer Institute of Canada.

The first phenomenon observed was the growth of new tissue within the tube which has first filled with a liquid. Dr. Selye explains it this way:

"We began by trying to find out what happens when you form an air sac inside an animal's body, sealed beneath the skin. During these experiments we planted a small tube, open at both ends, in the body of a rat. We now know that every time you plant a tube beneath an animal's skin in this way, several unusual changes take place. First, a fluid similar to blood plasma but richer in protein begins to fill the empty tube. Then, membranes of living tissue grow across both ends of the tube and seal the fluid in. The membranes, which I call basal plates, and the fluid both contain fibrin, the clotting agent in blood. The fibrin filaments in the basal plates soon begin to be pulled towards the centre of the plates by the process doctors call "wound shrinkage", a process you see taking place every time you cut your finger.

"Meanwhile the fibrin suspended in the fluid between the plates gathers together and shrinks into a thin cord. Then the cord floats in the fluid catches the fibrin gathered at the centre of the basal plates. Now the two membranes are connected by a cord of dead fibrin.

"At this point living cells begin to descend the cord from the membrane plates at each end, like a spark sputtering down a fuse. When they meet in the middle, the cord is alive. It quickly organizes itself as a living organ, essentially like a tendon but in many respects unlike any organ that ever before existed, with a blood-supply system, connective tissues, and the other 'necessary characteristics of organic life.

"The rest of the cord's story cannot yet be explained. The structure has become a living part of the host animal, and you would expect the cord to follow the same life cycle as the rest. Instead, within a month or two after it becomes fully grown the cord begins to break down. Ten or fifteen days later the cord is dead, apparently of old age.

even though the host animal remains young and healthy. There is one way to save the cord: If you remove the fluid surrounding it every few days and allow fresh fluid to form, the cord remains healthy indefinitely. It neither ages nor dies."

By regular manipulation of the pouches, Dr. Selye has been able to produce some unusual effects. The most dramatic conditions caused by this artificial "cancer" has been the production within the tube of cancer cells. "We transplanted these into other animals and obtained 'takes,'" Dr. Selye explained. "They followed the usual course of cancer and ultimately killed the animals."

"This will lead to further study of possible means of preventing cancer due to stress," he added.

REPORT FROM LEGISLATURE

By Mrs. C. R. Wood,
M.L.A.

The seventh week in the Legislature opened with a meeting of the Private Bills Committee on Monday morning to give consideration to a Bill incorporating the Alberta Certified Public Accountants. The Bill if passed would give the association the right to discipline their members and assess their educational requirements. Representatives of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, Certified General Accountants and the Institute of Accredited Public Accountants opposed the Bill and at an adjourned session on Tuesday morning the Bill failed to pass.

During Monday afternoon and evening the detailed study of the budget was completed. The reduced budget of $328,800,000.00 was approved by the Committee of the Whole Assembly and sometime before March 31st, His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. P. Pyge will enter the Assembly Room to give Royal Assent to the Supply Bill, which must be passed before the new fiscal year starts on April 1st.

Tuesday was Private Members' Day again and the resolution asking the Federal Government to regard the defects in our National Economy as emergent and to devise and adopt monetary policies and techniques to reduce unemployment was voted upon and resulted in 55 for and 2 against. The two against were E. Watkins (P.C. Calgary) and F. L. Gainer (Coalition Banff Cochrane).

A resolution proposed by M. Mac cagno (Lib. Lac La Biche) and seconded by E. Watkins, (P.C. Calgary) asking the Government of Canada to permit charitable or religious organizations to charge admission to concerts, shows, picnics, entertainment and sporting events on Sundays, for the purpose of raising money for religious or charitable purposes, was defeated on a voice vote after a short debate.

F. L. Gainer (Coalition Banff Cochrane) moved a resolution asking the Provincial Government to give consideration to establishing a contributory Fund to provide for compensation to livestock growers for livestock killed by hunters during hunting season, the contribution to be in the form of an assessment added to the game licenses. Hon. N. E. Willmore, Minister of Lands and Forests and Wildlife, said it would be wrong to penalize all hunters for a few of them and such a scheme would be very difficult to administer. He said that the government has been considering a program of insurance to protect farmers from wildlife damage to crops. Hunters would contribute through an additional amount on their license fees and farmers would buy insurance policies. It is hoped to have something definite regarding this by next session, he stated. The debate was adjourned by R. Ellis (C. Grouard).

Wednesday was devoted to Hearings of the Application Committee of the 65 Members of the Assembly. It was to hear submissions re the proposed Industrial Taxation Bill 95. All witnesses were sworn and subjected to questioning by the Members.

The first Brief heard was that of the Strathcona M.D. 483 and it made a counter claim against the tax share of the City of Edmonton, from any industrial taxation of the M.D. because of persons living in the M.D. who work in Edmonton and demand services from the M.D.

Sherwood Park Properties' Developers registered an objection to the Bill stating that about half of the Taxable assessment in M.D. 483 would do nothing for that municipality to enjoy it for the 'domitory services' provided to Edmonton by Sherwood Park which ultimately will house 9,800 persons.

Bill 95 would give Edmonton a share of Strathcona's industrial tax revenue, based on the principle that workers in the plants there, live in Edmonton and create expenditures for services there.

The next brief was presented by the City of Medicine Hat. It made the charge that the tax would threaten the autonomy of the City and would jeopardize industries in Medicine Hat. It stated that the Bill was full of 'ambiguities', and under questioning, Alderman Miller stated one of the main ambiguous statements in the Bill was the uncertainty of the types of industries that would be placed under the Commission next after those named in the Bill, and how that would affect the industries in Medicine Hat.

The Calgary Brief suggested holding up the third reading of Bill 95 in order that a study already started by Calgary, may be completed and more facts known concerning the full implications of the legislation. The Brief of the Calgary Chamber of Commerce urged a years delay in passage of the Bill and during the year set up the Commission and have them prepare a tax roll and statement of assessment to be studied by all municipalities to dispel the fear the exists today.

The regular afternoon Sessions of the Legislature on Wednesday and Thursday were waived so that submissions re Bill 95 could be heard. Seven hundred briefs were submitted with two of them definitely opposed, two supporting the Bill and 2 neither for or against it. The remainder held reservations on certain clauses but approved the general principle of starting something to solve the problems of industrial taxation. The fear was expressed that other industries, not specifically mentioned in the Bill would come under the Act later by Lieutenant Governor-in-Council, and the unknown effect that this would have on the economy of towns, cities and rural M.D.'s created a doubt as to the passage of the Bill.

The definition of 'Plant' in the Bill also was not sufficiently clear as expressed in the briefs of the Canadian Manufacturing Association and that of the Canadian Chemical Co., Canadian Industries Ltd., Minon Pulp and Paper Company and the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. The Committee continued its sittings on Friday with H.K. Collinge being questioned concerning his brief on behalf of the Northwest Pulp and Paper Company of Hinton. This kept up for two hours and fifty minutes, but throughout he stressed the high tax burden carried by his industry and while Bill 95 is not clear to him, should there be a reduction in its taxes, it would work a great loss. Public Hearings will be held throughout the year and recommendations will be presented to the Legislature at the next Session.

There was a partial redistribution prior to the 1959 general election which set up wards in Edmonton and Calgary and allowed two more seats for Edmonton and one for Calgary. The last general redistribution of seats was made before the 1953 election.

Letter To the Editor:-

Dear Editor:

For quite a few weeks now various people have stated at great length in your paper how they thought the Government Recreation Grant should be spent. It was a great disappointment to me and the Recreation Committee to see so very few people attend a meeting on just that subject on March 24.

Miss MacFarland, Supervisor Community Recreation Bureau Cultural Activities Branch, Dept. of the Provincial Secretary attended the meeting and showed a very excellent film called, "Leaders for Leisure". Her comments before and after the film were extremely valuable to this community in their present quandary, both in terms of cash and advice. She showed through the film and her comments how foot-happy we would be if we attempted to erect any recreation facility without first considering a Recreational Director, a person fully trained in the field who would be on full salary with a set budget with which to work. This person would then look around town and evaluate our present facilities to see if they were being used to the maximum time including the schools which have already cost the taxpayers a great deal of money. She felt it was much better and cheaper to pay the heat and light of present facilities than erect a new one that might only be used part time.

The Director would then find lead in all recreations possible and those willing to help would be given training by him or sent for training by sponsors, but when they returned to town their training by sponsors, but when they returned to town their training would not be lost or used half-way because they would have a leader.

The Grant does not have to be used this year as it is generally thought, but may be used any time within 4 years.

No matter what is erected in this town the fact remains that there will still be operational costs and it would be a pity to have a beautiful pool or recreation centre and have it only half used or even misused without proper guidance. The suggested salary for this Director is $5,000, of which the Government will pay 1/3 or up to $1,500, per year and the operation costs per year to the budgeted would be about $2,000, as a guess.

Miss MacFarland said she was most concerned in a town this size to see only 3 women attend since they should be most concerned how their children spend their free time. The film showed that with proper supervision the children were not the only ones who would have a full time program. Even programs for the elderly could be worked out too.

A report was made that in filling out the Recreational sheets there was some bewilderment and that most of the trailer population even refused to fill them out taking the attitude that they might not be here next year. Miss MacFarland thought they should be willing to fill them out since as long as they were here they were a part of the town and that they most certainly would be a part of the next place they lived and would hope there would be adequate recreation there too. By filling them out they might help other people moving into town. She explained that for a full time Director these sheets were invaluable sources of information and through them people could be easily contacted for their particular interests.

Miss MacFarland also stated that the Government gave a grant for part time leaders too. She also explained that $35,000, would build only a very inadequate pool, "a bath tub" 2' at one end and 2' at the other and later more expense would be incurred to build a diving section. Since it was very obvious that more money would be certainly have to be raised to go with the $35,000, by service clubs and taxes if necessary she felt it would only be sensible to hire a leader now even if it cost a little more for his salary, at least when we did decide to build something we would have his full time help and no money would be wasted. It occurred to her that people with full time jobs should not be expected to try to do a full time Director's work.

The estimated cost of an adequate pool is about $70,000, not to mention proper maintenance. I feel that certainly no large oil company would dream of developing a field without a trained leader or because any fool could see how much money could be wasted. Certainly this applies to any thing for which we are spending money.

I feel that certainly no large oil company would dream of developing a field without a trained leader or because any fool could see how much money could be wasted. Certainly this applies to any thing for which we are spending money.

The film "Leaders for Leisure" is available for groups but Miss MacFarland said it was extremely busy and she would like to see all interested Clubs and organizations who wish to see it try to see it within 3 or 4 days. About 2 or 3 weeks notice is necessary to book it.

It was quite a revelation to see how everyone was thinking before the film was shown and how after practically all that was discussed was how we should go about getting this Director and no mention was made of spending the $35,000, until that leader was installed.

The Athletic Association is calling a series of monthly meetings to discuss ways and means so please watch for the notice and mark them on your calendars. I've spoken to so many people who meant to attend but forgot. We can remember our club meetings etc. that we are interested in. I think we should certainly be concerned with remembering this meeting since it involves our pocket books, our children and ourselves.

Sincerely,
Marion Palmer.

SKINDIVERS TRY LAKE WABAMUN

Drayton Valley Skindivers braved the icy waters of Lake Wabamun last Sunday. Temperature of the water was 35° and atmospheric temperature was 55°.

It is hard to believe, but the rubber suits insulated the body completely from the cold waters. The only place that was cold were the hands, since no rubber gloves were available at that time.

The waters were rather shallow and not too clear, restricting visibility. One of the findings were that a person once under water has no sense of direction and therefore a compass is necessary.

The divers were in the water for 1 and 1/2 hours, and after climbing onto the pier not one of the boys as much as shivered. Except for the hands the rest of the body was warm and comfortable. An additional dive has been scheduled for next Sunday.
